Meet the Egongu Family

When the Egongu family's village was attacked by men with guns, they ran for their lives to a displacement camp. In 2017, Moses, Loyce, and their ten children left the camp to resettle in Otubet, Uganda, and start their lives again.

Through Free A Family® and a World Renew local partner, the Egongus began implementing new, sustainable farming practices. This year, the family is growing cassava, corn, and beans on their farmland, and raising cows as well. With your support, Free A Family® can help the Egongus and other families take more strides on their journey out of poverty.

How you can Help

For $27 a month—less than a dollar a day—you can help a family like the Egongus and their community overcome poverty.

Free A Family's® efficient, representative approach gets more of your donation to ministry that helps families and communities.

Give one time—or sign up to give a monthly or annual gift. In return, you will receive quarterly updates about a real, representative family like the Egongus in a region of the world that you choose.

Find more information and donate online at worldrenew.net/freefamily.

Be part of the solution to extreme global poverty.
