NUTRITION KIT

Here is a story of how this gift helps others

In parts of Honduras children are fighting for their lives because they are not receiving proper care. Their families are living in extreme poverty and trying their best to combat food insecurity and malnutrition

World Renew is training parents to help them better understand preventive health to ensure better futures for their children.

For Akhimoni and her family this training was life-changing. Akhimoni only weighed two pounds when she was born. When she was five months old her mother joined a community health program. A community health volunteer assessed Akhimoni and determined she was severely malnourished.

To help Akhimoni grow, the community health volunteer instructed Akhimoni's mother to feed her complimentary food and monitor her growth each month.

"We were greatly depressed as we learned that our child is severely malnourished," Suma said. "But as we began to give her complementary food, she is now growing fast. We are very happy."

The additional food and monitoring that Akhimoni is receiving will help prevent stunted growth and disease. It will also improve her development, health and income-potential for the rest of her life.

Your gift of a nutrition kit for someone like Alkhimoni will help children live healthier lives and overcome the impact of extreme poverty.
