Thank you for giving the gift of a bee smoker

In Africa, where the vast majority of people grow what they need in order to live, opportunity for more — income stability or growth, the possibility of education or advancement — is hard to come by.

World Renew's mission is to help people around the world work towards abundance, in part through robust agricultural programs that are climate-smart and boost a farmer's productivity without hurting the land or further disrupting families. Beekeeping programs have proven to be an excellent opportunity for extra income and crop enhancement. With proper training, men and women of all ages can manage a beehive and benefit from the extra income it generates in the form of honey sales. Bees' natural work of pollination complements these household farmers' agricultural efforts. Your gift of a bee smoker and the training that comes with it will support a farming household in Uganda or Kenya in their efforts to move from struggle to abundance.

Alice, Kareng, and Serepta have all received beekeeper training from World Renew and are enthusiastic about its promise for their economic security. Kareng is part of a group of 30 women who own 83 hives together, and she notices that the mango trees and sunflowers near her house produce more fruit since the bees came to her village. Serepta, an elderly widow, delights in having an income-generation activity that she can manage. Alice shared with her husband what she has learned, and she is enjoying his support and encouragement in a new way.

Your gift of a bee smoker will allow people in Uganda and Kenya to seek more abundance through beekeeping.

THANK YOU
